Kellogg Man Is Fatally Shot in Family Quarrel

KELLOGG, Feb. 9—Ernie Johnson, 59, a Kellogg tavern owner, is being held today following the fatal shooting at 11:15 last night of Joe Boni, 31, 301 West Brown, Kellogg.

Boni was shot through the heart and died instantly when he attempted to enter Johnson's tavern, Ernie's and Hazel's, on Railroad avenue, Police Chief Frank Hunt said. He was shot with a .22 caliber revolver.

Johnson surrendered immediately to police officers, Hunt said.

A. J. Graf, prosecuting attorney, said this morning he would question Johnson further before filing any charges, but indicated that because of the circumstances a first degree murder charge may not be filed.

Boni's death was the second killing in Shoshone county in eight days. Wallace City Policeman J. C. Farris was knifed to death January 31.

Following are the circumstances leading up to the shooting, as related by Police Chief Hunt after he had questioned Johnson.

Boni, he said, is married to Mrs. Johnson's daughter by a former marriage. Boni was drinking last night and went home, where he "beat up" on his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, learning of this, went to the Boni home and took Mrs. Boni and their two children, Chester, 5, and William Joe, 7 months, to their tavern. Boni was home at the time and made no effort to resist their actions.

When the Johnsons and Mrs. Boni and her children arrived at the tavern Johnson called police and asked them to pick up Boni.

Boni, however, followed to the tavern, and was met at the door by Johnson, who warned "Joe, don't come in here."

Johnson said he shot once in the air in an effort to scare Boni, then warned he would shoot Boni in the leg. Boni, however, broke a window out of the door and started to push his way in and Johnson shot. Boni dropped outside the door into the street.

The police who had been called by Johnson arrived a few moments later at the tavern. They had gone first to the Boni home and not finding Boni there had gone to the tavern expecting to pick him up there.

Johnson surrendered to the police and was taken to the city jail.

Questioned there later last night by Graf, Johnson is quoted as saying "I didn't mean to kill him. I only meant to shoot him in the leg."

There were a number of patrons in the tavern who were witnesses to the shooting, Graf said.

Graf said Johnson is remorseful about the tragedy.

The gun used in the shooting did not belong to Johnson, Graf said this afternoon. It had been left at the tavern for another party to pick up.

Johnson, a long-time and well-known resident of the district, had operated the tavern for the past nine months. At one time he had the garbage collection contract in the city.

Boni, who was born in Spokane, was a lifelong resident of Kellogg. He had been employed at the Tamarack & Custer and Coeur d'Alene Mines corporation on shaft sinking contracts, but recently had been employed at the Bunker Hill mine.

In addition to his widow, Ruth, and two sons, he is survived by three brothers, Louie, Spokane; Corporal Henry Boni, with the army in the South Pacific, and William, Coeur d'Alene; and two sisters, Mrs. Frances Destefano and Mrs. Laura Farraca, both of Spokane.

Funeral services have not yet been arranged.

Ross Says Progress Being Made in Settling Steel Strike

(By the Associated Press)

Flag-carrying transit strikers clashed with police at Lancaster, Pa., today as volunteer workers led by ex-G. I.s again broke through picket lines with trolleys and buses. One picket was arrested.

Club-wielding police guards hustled volunteers through picket lines into Conestoga Transportation company car barns at 8:30 a. m. and a half hour later five trolleys and seven buses clanged through the main gate.

Striking members of local 1241, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employes (A F L) attempted to break through the police lines to reach the vehicles.

Several pickets were knocked down but Police Lieutenant Carl Wenninger said apparently no one was injured.

Meanwhile, White House Secretary Charles G. Ross reported good progress is being made toward ending the 20-day-old steel strike.

His statement re-emphasized other reports that President Truman is optimistic about settlement of the dispute, which has thrown into idleness 750,000 steel workers.

Ross, in response to questions about reports that Reconversion Director John U. Snyder might be replaced by Price Administrator Chester Bowles, said no change in the reconversion leadership had been made and none is contemplated.

The Chicago Sun reported today that "highly influential" democrats had urged President Truman to replace Snyder with Bowles and Move Paul Porter, chairman of the federal communications commission, into Bowles' post.

Bowles May Quit

A government official, who asked not to be named, had said earlier that there is a possibility that Bowles might quit as a result of differences over an impending government wage-price pronouncement.

New York City officials were concerned over the serious fuel shortage in the nation's largest city because of a continuing work stoppage by tugboat workers.

The most drastic system of fuel oil rationing in New York's history was ordered by Mayor William O'Dwyer after the 3500 A F L striking tugmen rejected proposals designed to end the six-day hour-wage dispute.

Another labor dispute in New York, a month-old communications tieup by a walkout of 7000 C-I-O Western Union employes, was announced settled subject to ratification by the strikers.

No new progress was reported toward effecting settlement of the 11-weeks-old strike by 175,000 C I O workers in General Motors plants.

Duchy Example Of Brotherhood

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

LUXEMBOURG, Feb. 9. (AP)—Here in the medieval setting of this little grand duchy we find one of the finest—perhaps the finest—exemplifications of the brotherhood of man which our war-torn world boasts.

The some 300,000 folk living in Luxembourg's tight 1000 square miles are just one big family, in which it's all for one and one for all. It's difficult for the stranger to understand such a Utopian situation. You really have to visit this storybook principality to get the feel of it, and even at that I don't believe I should have got the full significance of the situation but for a remark dropped by Prime Minister Dupong while Mrs. Mack and I were chatting with him in his private office.

The prime minister said that all Luxembourgers are related by blood. Well, of course, I don't suppose he meant that to be taken literally, but it's probably true that there aren't many people in his tiny state who aren't related if you trace their lineages back a bit.

So there you have your Luxembourg family. Probably like most families they have differences among themselves. But let an outsider pick a row with a Luxembourger and he'll find the rest of the family coming in to the rescue. And impartial observers who know the country will tell you that if misfortune befalls one member of the family the others help him out.

There is no unemployment, and wages are 30 per cent higher than in neighboring Belgium, which is showing marked signs of economic recovery.

Luxembourg is seventh in world production of steel and pays the highest steel wages in Europe. There is no black market, for none could live in a country where brotherhood is practiced.

The National Whirligig

(By RAY TUCKER)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—William Benton has already launched his campaign to win congressional approval for a $40,000,000 annual expense account to underwrite a foreign sales program for the United States of America. The former advertising agent began it in characteristic style by entertaining members of the house appropriations subcommittee handling diplomatic expenditures at a private dinner.

Rumblings of bipartisan opposition to such a grandiose scheme apparently convinced him that he should break the legislators' resistance with advance sales talks. Despite the assistant secretary of state's admitted persuasiveness, it is doubtful if he has yet broken down their conviction that Uncle Sam is one individual who doesn't need such expensive publicity. His is a well-known name and trademark.

He believes, however, that if congress will accept his advice, he can make the old gentleman a winner in the world popularity contest against such competitors as Josef Stalin, Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee, Chiang Kai-shek or even Jan Smuts of South Africa.

* * *

SELLING The $40,000,000, so Benton explained to the Capitol Hill board of directors, will be spent to flood the world with magazines extolling American life and industry, to operate short-wave broadcasts, to staff our embassies and legations with publicists, to show movies of our folkways, to deluge every world capital with official reports and handouts.

Congressional veterans were slow to believe that President Truman and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes had subscribed to this Hollywoodish idea. But Benton assured them that both the White House and the state department, as represented by Byrnes, approved his proposals. Their international venturings since V-J day apparently convince them that the U. S. still needs selling abroad.

Ukraine Delegate Accuses Britain

LONDON, Feb. 9. (AP)—Dmitri Manuilsky, foreign commissar of the Russian Ukraine, accused Britain before the United Nations security council tonight of having violated an allied agreement on the Far East by failing to disarm defeated Japanese troops in the Dutch East Indies.

Returning to press a Ukrainian demand for council investigation of the Indonesian situation, Manuilsky told the council it was true, as Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had contended, that Britain was assigned by the allied high command to operations in the Indies.

But, he said, "this was to receive Japanese capitulation and to disarm Japanese—this task has not been accomplished."

Mamdouh Riaz of Egypt suggested to the headquarters committee that London instead of New York be selected as a temporary site of the United Nations Organization.

He made the suggestion as an amendment to the report of the interim site committee, and said it would be "common sense" to keep the temporary headquarters in the British capital where all the organization's documents now rest and where there would be little added expense.

"This would not reverse the decision to have the permanent seat in the United tates, but give us four or five months to reconsider the whole question," the Egyptian delegate said.

Housing Plan Wins Support Of Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (AP)—President Truman's recommendations for the greatest house-building program in history won immediate and enthusiastic bi-partisan support today on Capitol Hill.

Democrats and republicans alike applauded the objectives of the emergency campaign which has set its sights on the construction of 2,700,000 new homes in the next two years.

Wilson S. Wyatt, the housing expediter and generalissimo of the projected campaign, said it could "move into high gear" by April 1 if congress acts promptly and votes the necessary legislation.

Only one phase of the over-all program failed to click with congressmen. That was the proposal that the 40,000,000 existing dwellings be placed under price control. Major opposition to this developed.

Representative Wolcott of Michigan, senior republican on the house banking committee, which handles housing legislation, said if the administration would drop its fight for price ceilings on old houses "I don't see why we can't put through the legislation the president asked for, by unanimous consent, within 24 hours."

He proposed that the committee recall an emergency housing bill it approved yesterday, to rewrite it along the lines asked by the president, except for the old house price control feature. The committee deleted such control from the bill it approved.

Objections to two phases of the plan were voiced by industry groups. The National Association of Real Estate Boards protested the price control features and the Producers' Council, Inc., representing building materials manufacturers, objected to proposals for subsidies to spur output of materials.

The "bold" housing program, prepared by Wyatt on instructions from Mr. Truman, contemplates about $16,000,000,000 in housing construction during the next two years. The houses would be built principally by private contractors, with most of the dwellings selling for no more than $6000 or renting for not more than $50 a month.

Commissioners To Consider Budget

The county commissioners Monday will give final consideration to the proposed budget for 1946. Taxpayers will be heard at that time.

The commissioners have tentatively adopted a $559,494 budget, with $204,232 for salaries and wages and $355,262 for other expenses. This compares with $177,454.29 for salaries and wages and $156,335.47 for other expenses in 1945 and $155,724.38 for salaries and wages and $127,678.89 for other expenses in 1944.

At the first of this year the county had an unexpended cash balance of $196,479. The amount to be raised by tax levies this year is $245,075, compared with $250,650 raised by taxes last year.

Kellogg Ensign's Exploit Related

The daring exploit of Ensign John N. (Tarzan) Mattmiller, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mattmiller, Kellogg, during the war against Japan is cited in a story in the February 16 edition of Collier's.

The article is entitled "China's Mystery Man," and describes the activities of the Sino-American Cooperative Organization" formed by the Americans and Chinese to operate in free and occupied China. Purpose of the SACO was to observe weather, establish radio communications, watch Jap fleet activities and guerrilla warfare.

Ensign Mattmiller was with Unit Six stationed at Hwaian, in south Fukien province not far from Jap-occupied Amoy.

Ensign Mattmiller, the story relates, spent weeks training four Chinese swimmers to go with him on a special job.

"On May 4, 1945, Mattmiller and assistants embarked in a junk for a point adjacent to enemy-held Amoy harbor. That night, with explosives strapped high and dry on their backs, they waded through mud and swam to a freighter tied up at Amoy docks. Working rapidly they set time charges and swam hard for safety. Just as they were being hauled aboard their junk, four violent explosions shook the harbor area. The freighter sank at the dock. Chinese agents from within Amoy reported Japanese running madly about, many of them sure they were being attacked from the sea."

Stalin Attacks Capitalism in Radio Address

LONDON, Feb. 9. (AP)—Generalissimo Stalin announced tonight a new five year plan, the soviet union's third, to rebuild war-devastated areas.

Election Speech

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Generalissimo Stalin told a throng of constituents tonight that "wars could be avoided if there was a possibility of a fair distribution of raw materials and export markets," the Moscow radio said.

"Marxists have asserted more than once that in our time capitalism does not develop evenly but through crises and catastrophes," Stalin said.

"A capitalist country which is less fortunate tries to improve its position by force of arms. This brings about the splitting of the capitalist world into two hostile camps—and war."

The Soviet leader addressed a meeting in a Moscow ward on the eve of the Russian general elections, in which he is a candidate for re-election to the supreme Soviet. It was his first radio address to the Soviet union since last September 2. In the interim Stalin took a long vacation in the south of Russia.

Stalin said "the catastrophe of war could have been avoided if a redistribution of markets, et cetera, could be achieved peacefully," and added:

"But at present this is impossible under conditions of the world development of capitalism."

In his broadcast speech, recorded by the Associated Press and the Soviet Monitor, Stalin said the war had been "a school, a test for all our national forces, both at the front and in the rear," and asserted:

"It tore off all the masks hiding the state, parties and governments, exposing them with all their failures and shortcomings. Our state, our party could review themselves in the light of the war. We must look at them attentively and criticize them for what they are worth x x x.

"Now that the war has tested the work of our organization and our leaders it is easier to draw correct conclusions."

In assessing victory, the Russian people first must consider it "from the point of view of the internal forces of our country," the Soviet leader said.

"In the first place," he declared, "our Soviet system won. It withstood all trials in the fire of war and proved its virility. The question is no longer whether the Soviet system can endure. No skeptic dares to doubt this any more."

Stalin said that the "Soviet system is more virile than any other" and declared that "it is the best system, better than any non-Soviet one."

Taft Attacks FEPC Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Senator Taft (Rep., Ohio) told the senate today that a pending fair employment practices commission bill would "completely regiment all employers and employment in the United States."

The Ohio senator, who is chairman of the republican steering committee, imposition of a debate limitation rule told his colleagues that he favors the in a vote scheduled for 4 p. m. today.

Democratic Leader Barkley, announcing he would support the debate limitation motion and the bill, complimented southern opponents of the measure on what he said was the "respectful debate" carried on for nearly four weeks.

Congress sent to the White House a stripped-down version of the so-called "full employment" bill.

Of 26 measures President Truman asked in his annual message in January, this was the first to pass.

Final approval came yesterday when the senate accepted a draft drawn by a conference committee to reconcile differences between versions adopted by the senate and house. Mr. Truman had urged passage of what he regarded as the stronger senate bill.

What he got, however, was legislation much modified in wording, including omission of the phrase "full employment." Barkley said the idea was to eliminate an "implied guarantee that the government would step in and make jobs for any and all unemployed."

Would Boost Tourist Business

BOISE, Feb. 9 (AP)—An additional $7,000,000 in annual revenue from tourist business in Idaho would result, Highway Director T. Matt Hally predicts, from a $2,000,000 promotion program.

Hally, in an address at the convention of the Idaho Motor Transport association, suggested appropriation by the state legislature of $2,000,000 "to staff suitable ports of entry into Idaho" so that information could be provided incoming tourists.

He would carry on also an advertising program to promote the state's tourist business.

But a prime requisite to any tourist-attracting plan is the repair of Idaho highways, Hally said, adding:

"We can neither attract nor impress tourists if our highway system is not maintained.

"The state highway department will need an additional $1,000,000 this year to handle adequately the over-all highway program and to match federal funds."

The highway director proposed heavier taxes on the trucking industry which, he said, "should be further assessed to meet the demands of highway maintenance."

He added that uniformity of taxation probably would provide the needed revenue. Hally contended that some logging and mining trucks are using farm truck permits.

Soviet Demand Meets Opposition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The United States gave Moscow a broad hint today that it did not favor the Soviet's demand for sole trusteeship of Tripolitania, conquered Italian colony in North Africa.

Secretary of State Byrnes proposed instead a 10-year trusteeship under the United Nations Organization, then complete independence for Tripolitania and Italy's three other pre-war colonies in Africa.

The Byrnes pronouncement had the effect of lining up the United States with Britain against Russia's bid to secure a sole trusteeship foothold in the strategic mid-Mediterranean area.

Britain has been vehemently opposed to the Russian proposal since it was first advanced, for if the Soviets moved into Tripolitania they would be in a position athwart the empire's so-called life-line to Indian and the Far East.

Byrnes made no reference to Russia's Mediterranean aspirations when he announced the 10-year trusteeship plan which the United States proposes for Tripolitania, Cyrenaica, Eritrea and Somaliland.

Senators Urge Higher Ceiling Prices For Metals, Extension of Premium Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (AP)—Extension of the premium price plan for copper, lead and zinc and an increase in the ceiling price for these metals was proposed today by Senator McFarland (Dem., Ariz.) and five colleagues.

The government paid a premium to obtain maximum production during the war. The law expires June 30, 1946.

A Reconstruction Finance corporation official recently revealed it had been necessary to arrange for U. S. copper purchases abroad during this year, despite premium payments.

"A price of 14 cents a pound for copper, nine for lead and 10 for zinc would reduce premium payments to perhaps 40 per cent of the present amount," McFarland estimated. Prices are now 12 cents for copper, 6½ for lead and 8½ for zinc.

The bill would allow $50,000,000 for premium payments. It would authorize an increase in the price ceiling of not less than 60 per cent of the initial premium of five cents a pound for copper, 2.75 cents for lead or zinc.

Planning Board Has Suggestions

BOISE, Feb. 9 (AP)—Funds for immediate activation of a state tuberculosis hospital, for construction of additional buildings at the state's mental institutions and for salary increases in the public schools, were demanded today by the Idaho State planning board.

The board recommended that an expected special session of the state legislature appropriate funds to carry out the suggestions.

Needs at the state mental institutions, the board said, "surpass any economic consideration."

In a statement the board said it "realized fully that the labor market and the market for all needed materials is not one conducive to economical construction."

But it added that "there are certain functions of a humanitarian nature which the state is obligated to do, among which are the custody and treatment of afflicted persons."

The board suggested appropriation of $600,000 to activate a state tuberculosis hospital. It recommended that the suggestion of an Idaho Medical Society committee be followed. That proposal called for abandonment of partly-completed hospital facilities at Gooding in favor of a new building at Boise.

But if that plan does not prove feasible, the board said, it urged that "because of the urgency of the situation, some positive action be taken."

The planning board said money to carry out its suggestions was currently contained in the state's general funds and no financing will be required.

Discussing the school problem, the board said financial assistance to permit increased teacher salaries was desirable. It mentioned no specific figure, however.

The board said, also, that the "inability of school districts to hire teachers of accepted standards" was a result of "inadequate property valuation."

Assessed valuation of property in Idaho in 1920, the board said, was $502,305,903. On last Dec. 31 it was $420,991,154.

"It is obvious," the board commented, "that the total of the present assessed valuation reflects none of the growth and increased investment which has been made in Idaho in the past 24 years."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (AP)—Former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill will call on President Truman at the White House at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow, it was announced today.

The British leader and Mrs. Churchill have been vacationing at Miami Beach, Fla.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, said that since Mr. Truman would be unable to see Churchill in Florida, now that the president's southern vacation trip has been cancelled, Churchill is coming to see the president here.

Wells Urged To Run For Senate

POCATELLO, Feb. 9. (AP)—Some Idaho political circles today urged Richard H. Wells, Pocatello civic leader and past president of Rotary International, to seek the republican nomination for U. S. senator from Idaho.

R. K. Hart said he is acting as secretary for a "Wells-for-Senator" club. However, Hart reported that Wells, a consultant at the United Nations security conference in San Francisco, has not revealed whether he would be interested in the campaign. Wells has not previously run for public office.

Ben Johnson, Preston attorney, already has announced for the nomination.

Homma In Tears As Trial Ends

MANILA, Feb. 9 (AP)—The war crimes trial of Lieutenant General Masaharu Homma ended today in its fifth week with the Japanese defendant, erstwhile conqueror of Manila, Bataan and Corregidor, in tears.

The prosecution demanded that the general, accused of ordering the Bataan death march, be given the same sentence as his military contemporary, Lieutenant General Tomoyuki Yamashita—death on the gallows.

What fate the U. S. military commission has in store for him likely will be made known Monday.

Jap Balloons Were Tremendous Flop

A joint army-navy report disclosed that the Japanese launched 9000 bomb-carrying balloons against the United States during the war, but only 900 ever reached North America.

It was a slightly expensive undertaking, the report noted, for each paper balloon cost about 10,000 yen or $2300 each.

Flashes Of Life

CHERRYVALE, Kas., Feb. 9. (AP)—When farmer N. H. Sheppard took one of his pigs to a cold storage locker to be slaughtered the butcher discovered a gold crown on one of the animal's teeth.

How the metal happened to be there is anyboy's guess. One theory is that the swine rooted up a nugget, clamped down on it and fitted himself with a gold crown.

The pig's head, gold and all, has been frozen and placed on display.

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 9. (AP)—University of Oregon gentlemen prefer redheads right now. Here's why:

Tickets to the campus "Krazy Kopy Krawl" dance cost $1.16 for a man escorting a redhead, $1.27 for a guy with a blonde and $1.31 for the boys with brunettes.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 9. (AP)—Mrs. John Norton bought a watchdog after her house was ransacked last month.

Prowlers reappeared this week and stole the dog.

gains or rewards. They still want to know how he can make friends for us in peace-time when the same methods which he advances now were not notably successful in an hour of global crisis.

"Elmer Davis, Henry Wallace and Nelson Rockefeller," they recall, "spent several hundred million dollars on movies, magazines and radio broadcasts in South America and Europe. Leo Crowley's FEA poured out more millions in preclusive purchases. These expenditures, we were told, were supposed to win neutrals to the allied side.

"We have contributed the largest amount of money to the United Relief and Rehabilitation administration. And if you can't make friends by giving people food and clothing, you might as well quit.

"Despite these investments by Davis, Wallace, Rockefeller and Crowley, not to mention lend-lease assistance, the nations which were the beneficiaries of these advances dislike us more than they did before the war.

"Now, it is proposed to cram Uncle Sam down their throats. We are to show them how prosperous and strong we are at a time when they are starving. It seems to us that their reaction will be a sorry mixture of envy and enmity."

* * *

FACTUAL Benton's dinner guests have their own ideas on the kind of publicity which will be most advantageous to Uncle Sam. The subcommittee members visited foreign countries during and after the war, and they studied at first-hand the problem which now bothers Benton.

They favor continuation of short-wave broadcasts explaining administration actions and policies so as to offset any misinterpretation by foreign diplomats and news services. But they think that these programs should be wholly factual and straightforward, without any savor of propaganda.

They also believe that our major embassies and legations should have a staff of practical, experienced and hard-working newspaper aides. Operating unobtrusively and largely through personal contacts with officials, businessmen and foreign newspapermen, it is contended that they could do the job better and at less cost.

* * *

SETUP England, Canada, France, and even Germany and Japan before the outbreak of war in 1941, had that kind of a public relations setup at Washington and other world capitals. It proved extremely effective in presenting their respective governments' viewpoint.

London, Ottawa, Paris, Berlin and Tokyo also relied on businessmen and industrialists for important economic and political information. It was an American manufacturer, for instance, who first discovered Germany's plan to attack Russia, and tipped off Cordell Hull six months before the event. He, in turn, notified Moscow and gave Stalin time to hasten preparations for defense.

These supposed private citizens have always acted as representatives for their national interests, and frequently to better advantage than our official agencies. But our diplomats abroad think it beneath them to associate with such outside groups, and rarely take advantage of their knowledge.

So far Benton has not proved his case for publicizing the U. S. on such an elaborate and horn-blowing basis. He will probably get about $10,000,000 at the most for his soap opera program.—Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Games Tonight

Wallace at Coeur d'Alene.
Priest River at Kellogg.
Mullan at St. Maries.
Sandpoint at Bonners Ferry.

MULLAN, Feb. 9—Priest River moved into second place in the Panhandle Class A basketball conference last night with a 46-23 win over Mullan here.

The victory makes the Priest River-Kellogg game at Kellogg tonight all-important so far as second place standings go. Whatever team wins tonight will be firmly lodged in second place and will remain a threat to tie Coeur d'Alene for conference honors. The loser of tonight's game hardly will have a chance for any part of the title.

Last night's game was closer than the score indicates, for the visitors did not run away from the locals until the last quarter. The score was 16-10 at half-time in favor of the Spartans and at the end of the third quarter they held only an eight-point lead. In the last period, however, the fiery Spartans started hitting the hoop and from there on out it was strictly no contest.

Vikings Win

COEUR D'ALENE, Feb. 9 (AP)—Coeur d'Alene high school raced into a 15-3 first quarter lead and then proceeded to sear the hemps for a 54-29 Panhandle conference basketball triumph over Sandpoint high school here last night. Sharpshooted Ed Frandsen dropped in 24 counters while teammate Dar Cogswell, six-foot three-inch Viking center connected for 12 and smeared many visitor passes. Coeur d'Alene has racked up nine conference wins in 10 starts.

Seek Funds For Ski Patrol

The annual drive for financial support of the National Ski patrol system begins Monday, February 10, and continues through February 24, according to Dr. E. J. FitzGerald, leader of the Idaho ski patrol and chairman of Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho N.S.P.S. Proceeds are used for first aid equipment to take care of the skiing public, and 60 per cent of the money taken goes to the local ski patrol.

The Idaho ski patrol was organized in 1940 and serves the public skiing on Lookout summit. It has been awarded a certificate of merit by the N.S.P.S. for its active status and its alertness during the war. Members of the local patrol are Bob Gipson, Wilbur Olson, Bill Beamer, Beldon Brewer, Glenn Exum, Keith Whiting, Bill Erickson, Don Conley, Louis Berricchea, Dom Peretti, Art Smith, Ray Robinson and Don Engebretson. The first six named are national ski patrolmen.

Patrolmen are recognized on the mountain by the hooded rust colored parka with large zippered pockets in front and back. This is the national ski patrol parka exclusively designed for them.

Dr. FitzGerald reports that the N.S.P.S. has saved seven lives and has assisted over 7000 skiers to safety and medical attention, although the accident ratio in skiing is still lower than in most sports, he says. At Lookout summit there have been only four simple fractures in two months of skiing this season for the 2000 skiers who have been there, he declared.

For the drive $5 supporting memberships will be sold. They give the buyer the American Ski Annual or one year of Ski News. Associate memberships are $1.00.

The National Ski patrolman has passed the standard, advanced and winter first aid classes. He must purchase a first aid belt, first aid supplies and his parka. The ski patrol (1) provides a supervised active nation-wide service of trained and equipped personnel to serve the public; (2) maintains first aid equipped toboggans and medical supplies for your benefit; (3) skis all trails and slopes marking obstructions and seeing that all skiers are safely off the mountain at the end of the day, organizing search patrols for missing skiers; (4) provides all patrolmen with standardized accident cards for reporting accidents; (5) sponsors a medical committee to study accidents in aggregate and draw conclusions for future preventative measures; and (6) sets an example for safe and sane skiing.

Beau Jack Gets Draw With Greco

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Ever since Beau the Jumping Jack came down the pike to win and lose the lightweight championship they've been saying his buzzsaw style was a carbon copy of the perpetual motion machine—Henry Armstrong.

And today the Jacobs Beach beachcombers were wondering if maybe the Jumping Jack's engine hadn't run down and burned out just as suddenly and somewhat the same way Hammerin' Hennery's did a few years back.

A 1 to 3 betting choice, the Jumping Jack managed to get only a 10 round draw in Madison Square Garden last night with Elevator Johnny Greco, the up-and-down Canadian.

Greco won just about everything but the decision, and when the officials failed to give him that, the crowd of 18,941 booed lustily. The sellout, incidentally, resulted in a gross gate of $148,152, the fanciest cash register-up-and-down Canadian.

Vandals Meet Cougars In Moscow Tonight

MOSCOW, Feb. 9. (AP)—Top spot in Northern division standings of the Pacific coast basketball conference will be the goal for which the University of Idaho Vandals will be shooting tonight. The Vandals meet the Washington State college basketeers in Pullman.

Idaho held the division lead briefly last week but lost it to Oregon State.

Washington State currently is in the conference cellar. The Cougars, however, have been strengthened greatly by their return from military service of Gale Bishop, sharp shooting forward. Bishop has been improving in every game he has played and in a non-conference contest Monday night poured in 26 points against Western Washington college.

18,000 Will See Cage Game Tonight

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Two of the nation's most powerful basketball teams—the colorful and once-beaten Ramblers of Notre Dame and the equally one-time defeated New York University Violets—clash tonight in this town's "game of the year."

Comparable to the annual Notre Dame-Army football classic which packs the park to the bulging point, this 12-year-old court rivalry has taken on all the glamor of its gridiron counterpart and mammoth Madison Square Garden has long been sold out of its 18,000 plus capacity.

In addition thousands were turned away and scalpers were doing a rushing business asking and getting as much as $15 per for end arena seats regularly priced at $1.75.

Wallace Boxers Defeat Kellogg

KELLOGG, Feb. 9—Wallace high school boxers won a 5-3 decision over Kellogg here last night.

Following are the results (Wallace men listed first):

Rivera, 103, lost to Turbak, 113.

Bratton decisioned Symmes at 108 pounds.

Leonard Walker decisioned Hawkins at 132 pounds.

Don Beck decisioned Hooper, 110.

Bilte lost to Pollock at 157.

Thornton lost to Bloom at 162.

FIRE AT PULLMAN

PULLMAN, Feb. 9 (AP)—A fire of undetermined origin yesterday caused damage estimated tentatively at around $4000 to miscoscopes and other equipment in a department of police science laboratory at Washington State college.

"Murder!" They Cried

THE STORY: Arrogantly beautiful Phillipa Willson, Fletch's wife, announces to the gathered Willson clan that she has sent her small twin sons away so that they will not have to march in the town's Independence Day parade. This is an annual affair, sponsored by the Willson family who own the Willson mills. Phillipa's gesture is one of defiance toward her in-laws. Nana, family governess of many years' standing, overhears and Mrs. Willson asking his secretary, Dru Ellis, if she thinks Phillipa can be bought off. Dru says no, that "position" means too much to Phillipa. Incidents reveal that Dru and Fletch are in love with each other.

V

I WENT back to the morning room and vindictive thoughts started to crowd in on me. Why do nice people have to be such self-sacrificing idiots, I wondered.

I stopped aghast. When, and remembered for the first time in a long time my Miss Jenny and Mr. Willson. Had some rebellious thought of mine twisted their lives? Was that some line of reasoning perhaps showing itself now in Betsy?

For Betsy at twenty-two was being a problem child for the first time in her life. I hadn't had much time that day to worry about Betsy, but now I sat down and thought about her. She was seeing too much of Pen Downes. Fletch had told her that on his last leave, adding, "He's bad meat for any girl, Betsy."

Now Pen Downs, I thought, would have been right for Phillipa. Pen Downes was an artist who looked like a professional tennis player. He was dark and lean and hard and had a quick way of moving that made me think that if he only had a cape he would look like Mephistopheles. I think he could charm a bird off a bough if it were a female. He had bought "Long Meadow," the old Barclay place that adjoined ours on the other side of the quarry after he came back from the Pacific war zone. He is the artist whose startling paintings of men in action had taken the country by storm. He hadn't just painted his part in the war; he had been with the armed forces until malaria had invalided him home about a year before. There was a Mrs. Penfield Downes somewhere in the background, very vaguely in the background but nevertheless there. Conveniently so, I imagine, on occasion.

Cook came in just then and asked how many there would be for lunch. I guessed four, but I was wrong. Neither Mr. Willson nor Fletch came back and Dru had some jellied consomme in the library.

* * *

I TOOK my nap after lunch, but I slept only a short while and when I woke, I felt bewildered and frightened, as though something terrible had happened and I couldn't remember what it was. I thought I must have had a bad dream which had slipped away from me in my first waking moment, leaving only a sense of dread. I didn't like it; it frightened me and I went looking for someone to whom to talk. There was no one in the house except Dru. The practical sound of her typewriter was comforting. She stopped typing when I came in and I asked, "Will I disturb you, Dru, if I sit in here with you?"

She said, "Of course not, Nana. I'll be glad to have you, but I'm not good company today, not even for myself." Then she said, "I wish those whistles would stop screaming in the valley. They've been doing it for three days and it just isn't going to rain."

It was the very thing that I had been thinking and I jumped like a frightened cat. There is something peculiar about our valley. We always know when it is going to rain by the hollow screaming of the train whistles. It is a lost soul kind of sound, and as Dru said, they had been screaming for three days and the wind was not in the right direction for rain and there wasn't a cloud in the sky and it was as hot and dry as a furnace.

I got out my knitting and Dru went back to her letters. We sat that way for about an hour and then Fletch came in. His face was gray tired and his army shirt was wet and wrinkled across his back.

* * *

"I'VE been looking for the boys," he said. "I can't find them. I have gone everywhere I can think of."

Dru said, "I wouldn't worry. Phil will probably bring them back tonight."

He looked up at her and gave a nasty little laugh. "That's just wishful thinking, Dru. You know Phil." He ran his hands through his hair. "I'm so tired of this hell we live in and I can't understand why she wants to keep it up. We've had six years of it but she won't hear of a divorce. Says she'll fight me every step of the way. I would have cleared out long ago if it weren't for the boys."

He stood up and Dru got up, too, and went to him. "Oh, my dear," she said. So swiftly they were in each others arms that it was like the merger of shadow and substance when you quickly move a lamp. Dru is almost as tall as Fletch and he rested his cheek against the top of her head and there they stood quietly holding each other. And it seemed to me to be completely right. There was no need for words between these two. Words are not needed when love is deep and strong and real.

Fletch finally spoke, "We can't go on this way, Dru."

"We have to go on this way," she answered. "There isn't any other way for us."

I wanted to kick the stool at my feet, Dru was being noble again.

Fletch said, "We're both wrong. There isn't time either to do anything or to go on, but when I come back, things will be different."

That cool, arrogant voice said from the doorway, "Oh, they will, will they?" and Phillipa, still in riding clothes, came into the room.
